Policeman Cleared From Charges and Highly Commended

Allegations of Violence and Intoxication Against Thomas Stevenson Are Dismissed by Commission—Suspended Officer Is Reinstated

CONSTABLE Thomas Stevenson, stood exonerated of all charges of violence and intoxication leveled against him by George Bernard Scott at the close of yesterday's special session of the City Police Commission. The commission, in dismissing the charges, passed a formal resolution commending the officer for the manner in which he had arrested a man so much desired by the police.

Constable L. Greenwood, who was on duty when Scott escaped from the Jubilee Hospital, while he was under arrest on a charge of being in possession of a safe containing $6,000 worth of jewelry, also appeared before the commission, and Constable Stevenson went to a house on the corner of the street, and there he found Scott, who was then restrained to the force, and after a warning was told that he would be "penalized" by having his salary forfeited for the period of his suspension. His character and past work on the force was a sympathetic hearing from the commission.

READS CHARGE
Mayor David Leeming called Constable Stevenson before the commission and read Scott's charges to him in part. Generally, the charges were that the constable had used extreme violence in handling the prisoner, vile language, and had been out of his senses with liquor.

Constable Stevenson denied the charges in full, and then recounted for the first time his side of the case, climaxing his story by exhibiting the injuries he had sustained in arresting Scott and bringing him to the police station.

He explained that he was not on duty at the time that he received the information that led to Scott's about five minutes before I could subdue him and take him out to the car," Constable Stevenson said. He then told of how Scott again fought to get loose at the car, and Constable Stevenson then put the handcuffs on him after a struggle. Keeping one hand on the prisoner, Constable Stevenson then drove to the police station, and when he pushed the prisoner out of the car, Scott again made an attempt to escape. "In the scuffle that ensued, Scott was borne to the ground, where I upended him," Constable Stevenson said, "and he picked him up and pushed him up the runway that leads to the charge office. He showed him through the door and then toward the charge office desk. He did not strike him in the charge office. Constable Stevenson declared that he gave him a shove that might have been interpreted as a blow, but it really was not a blow in the real sense of the word. It was this final shove that he gave him that caused Scott to slip to the floor.

DENIES DRINKING
Under questioning, Constable Stevenson denied emphatically that he had been drinking on the night before the arrest, August 27, or on the morning of the arrest, August 28. He also denied using any more violence than was necessary to effect the arrest of a man trying to evade arrest, and furthermore, denied using vile language, although he admitted he may have been a little forceful in his speech.

Constable Stevenson then was asked to show what injuries he had sustained, and stripping his tunic from him he exposed his right arm, upon which were three large, almost black colored areas, which were bruised caused when he was struck by the cordwood.

OTHER WITNESSES
Acting Sergeant James Peterson, Sergeant Sydney Wilkinson, Detective Benjamin Aherman, Detective William Stark, Constable Edwin G. Sturrock, Constable Peris Atkinson, Constable Samuel McKenzie, and Constable George Clayards were then called in the order given to testify. They all repeated their testimony given at a recent court hearing when Scott was convicted on a charge of theft.

With the exception of Detective Stark, all officers testified that Constable Stevenson showed no signs of being under the influence of liquor. Detective Stark referred to meeting Constable Stevenson some hours previous to the arrest, and declared the constable had made one or two false steps. Constable Sturrock said he saw Constable Stevenson strike Scott, but in summary of the case it was felt by the commission that the rather hard push the constable had given the prisoner may have been misinterpreted by Constable Sturrock. Constable George Clayards, who drove Constable Stevenson home, was most emphatic in his declaration that his fellow officer was not only sober, but had no smell of liquor on his breath.

Troops Bound for Africa

Despite the attempts by all nations to bring about a peaceful settlement of the present Ethiopian-Italian crisis, Premier Benito Mussolini continues to send new detachments of his finest troops to Eritrea, Italy's colony in Northern Africa. RESIGNATIONS ARE EXPECTED

Mr. Speaker Awaiting Formal Advice of Retirement Of Two B.C. Members

Resignations of Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., Independent Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard, and of Alex M. Manson, K.C., Liberal member for Omineca, in the Provincial Legislature, will probably be in the hands of Mr. Speaker Hon. H. G. Perry by October 7, it was intimated here yesterday on the return of Mr. Speaker from London, where he attended a meeting of the official Parliamentary Association at the official British Columbia delegates. Mr. Speaker said both members, in Vancouver, where he heard for the first time that they had accepted the offer of official nominations in the federal election.

While neither has as yet resigned, their nominations cannot be filed until that detail has been attended to, it was pointed out. After he has been officially advised of a vacancy for vacancies in the House, Mr. Speaker will set machinery in motion which, under British Columbia law, will bring on the necessary by-election or by-elections within six months' time.

NO FALL SESSION
The Government, meanwhile, has undertaken that any seats thrown open will be filled before the next session of the House, possibly in February of 1936. All talk of a Fall session of the British Columbia Legislature has died down for this year.

The British Columbia delegate to the Big Empire gathering, Mr. Perry spoke both at the convention and also for the Dominions at the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Mansion House, London. He was received with every hospitality by Captain the Rt. Hon. E. A. Fitzroy, Speaker of the British House of Commons, and attended many of the Empire celebrations in connection with the Silver Jubilee of Their Majesties.

Other Canadian delegates to the conference included Hon. Angus Macdonald, Premier of Nova Scotia, and Hon. Duncan Macphail, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Mr. Perry went to London as the official delegate of the British Columbia Government and Legislature, and returned much impressed with progress being made in Great Britain.

Mr. Perry need not worry about having his face in the newspaper, as it has been embalmied in ten thousand news reels.

British Columbia Pays Last Respect To Belgian Queen

At Government House and at the Legislative Building, the Union Jack was flown at half-mast here yesterday, as British Columbia's mark of respect to the late Queen Astrid of the Belgians. Though the precise hour of the funeral was not known here, the flags were kept at half-mast throughout the day, the outward symbol of a shocked regret and sincere sympathy at the tragic death in the Belgian Royal Household. The last occasion on which the flags were similarly lowered was on the day of the funeral of General Paul von Hindenburg.

CABINET ACTS ON TRADE LAW

B.C. Apprenticeship Act Will Come Into Force Fully on September 9

Hon. G. S. Pearson announced yesterday that the Government had approved of the issuance of a proclamation bringing the new British Columbia Apprenticeship Act into effect on September 9, with consequent registration then of all apprentices in trades to which the law will apply, and future Provincial supervision of new agreements.

MAY BE WIDENED
The law will apply to trades listed in Schedule "A" of the act, at the outset, and will later be widened to include other trades as deemed advisable, Provincial officials said. Schedule "A" comprises carpentry and joinery, painting and decorating, plastering, sheet metal working, plumbing and steam-fitting and electrical work.

The first step under the new law will be the compulsory registration of all apprenticeship agreements.

WATER REVENUE AHEAD OF 1934
Ald. Andrew McGavin believes Council Members Are Poor Prophets on Receipts

Alderman Andrew McGavin gave the City Council last night an instance of why he believes a prophecy "without humor" in his own country by quoting water department revenues to undermine the predictions of those who at first were opposed to reduced summer water rates.

The prophets, he said, had forecast a loss of $3,000 in revenue. The facts of the case up to the end of July were, $600 Lake revenue, $185,825.22, and Goldstream, $36,017.94, as compared with $154,866.08 and $14,509.58, respectively, for the first seven months of last year. This is an increase of $2,528.20 in the revenue instead of a $3,000 reduction, he asserted.

The figures up to the end of August will not be known for several days, he declared.

IT WON'T COME OFF
LONDON—One tennis duel that is certain not to come off is Fred Perry vs. Ellsworth Vines. Perry, an amateur, is willing and Vines, a pro, is quite ready to play if there is cash in it. But Perry's programme doesn't allow any spare time this year and the amateur people don't like the idea anyway.

SCHOOL DAYS CALL PUPILS

Number of Students Is Expected to Reach 1934 Total of 5,404

Perfect Summer weather marked the opening of city schools for the Autumn term, yesterday morning. Thousands of pupils thronged the business district all afternoon, purchasing books, scribbles, pencils and other necessary school supplies. Memories of the long holiday lingered with many as they jostled each other at counters and consulted long lists of items teachers told them they must obtain to pursue their studies.

Estimates of the number of pupils attending the sixteen public schools of Victoria High School were not available yesterday. But school trustees were of the opinion that attendance would closely approach last September's registration of 5,404 students. Of the total, 1,318 pupils were at Victoria High School.

Pupils will arrive at the various schools this morning, equipped to enter the term's studies. Their next holiday of any length will be the Christmas vacation in December.

No new textbooks, have been authorized this year by the Provincial Department of Education, and changes in the curriculum will be only of a minor nature. No new appointments to the staff were made by the school board, at a meeting held last evening.

LEADS TOURING CRICKETERS
LONDON—E. R. T. Holmes, the Surrey captain, has accepted an invitation to lead the touring English cricketers in New Zealand during the coming winter. He succeeded D. R. Jardine last season as captain of the county team.

The Top Sergeant—Grimballe fought like a tiger in that charge. I didn't think it was in him.

The Corporal—It isn't ordinary. But the captain, just before he went over, urged us all to think of our homes across the sea. Well, Grimballe lives with his wife's folks.

Mary found the class in physiology so interesting that she used to note to take to school. "Dear teacher—Don't tell Mary any more about her insides. It finally makes her too proud."

Send him back to school on a new C.C.M.

HE will be glad to go if he has a shiny new C.C.M. to take him there and bring him back. If he is starting to high school this Fall, he will likely have farther to go than to public school and will have an even greater need for a bicycle. Many school boys and girls would have to take their lunches if they did not have bicycles to bring them home to a noon-day meal.

Riding a C.C.M. is a joy for any girl or boy. It has a true Straight Line Drive, the front and rear wheels tracking like one. That's why a C.C.M. balances so perfectly, runs so smoothly and requires so little pressure on the pedals.

The powerful C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake brings the bicycle to a quick, smooth stop with astonishing ease. The frames of seamless steel tubing are wonderfully strong, yet light. The Chromium Plated Parts have a 20-Year Nickel Foundation to insure a brilliancy that lasts. The Enamelled Finish is by C.C.M.'s own process. It stands the rigors of the Canadian climate and retains its shine.

C.C.M. equipment is the very latest, including Rustless Steel Spokes, Endrick or Enamelled Steel Rims, Triplex Hanger, Dunlop Fort or Dunlop Imperial Tires. You'll be proud to see your boy or girl on one of these classy bicycles—and you never had an opportunity to buy so much C.C.M. quality for the money as right now.

SIR EDWARD BEATTY'S VISIT

Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is always a welcome visitor to Victoria, whether bringing gifts, promises of aid, or the promise of better times.

When the elections are over and the politicians cease from talking—most of them in abstract and general terms, possibly one or two of them in specific and concrete terms—the men who carry on the real business of the nation may have something to say.

One significant thing Sir Edward did say. He said that all the Canadian Pacific ships on this Coast were in commission and doing a satisfactory business. The president saw evidence in support of that statement if he happened to be looking out of the windows of the Empress Hotel as steamer after steamer arrived and departed from the docks just across the way, embarking and debarking thousands of passengers.

Of course the state of the weather helped to stimulate travel; but the weather was merely typical of the weather in Victoria in the delightful Autumn season.

Former presidents of the Canadian Pacific displayed sound judgment when they foresaw possibilities of the oceanic and coasting business of this part of Canada. Sir Edward Beatty, on the occasion of his present visit, made but one significant observation. That was that his company will always have ships on this Coast commensurate with the prospects of business.

We trust the president and his distinguished guests had a pleasant sojourn in Victoria.

BEER AND WINE

A correspondent writes a letter expressing an extreme view on the subject of the sale and consumption of beverages of a light alcoholic content in hotels and restaurants. The writer, we believe, expresses an extreme view when he attributes all vice and crime, and probably all moral excesses, too, to indulgence in what he no doubt would call strong drink. Beers and wines are not even technically strong drinks.

We might, if inclined, point with emphasis to the fact that vice and crime were never more rampant in either the United States or Canada than during the term of what was practically political prohibition; but that is an old story. An older story is that in countries in which prohibition was never considered an instrument of national or municipal policy, the people never have been noted for the criminality of their conduct.

The British people are the most law-abiding of all the people of the world; and the Briton ever has, and ever will, enjoy sitting at ease in his inn and partaking of his glass of beer or stout, and maybe something stouter, if so inclined.

This question is not one of what the breweries or the distilleries want as a matter of profit, but what the people are entitled to as a matter of comfort or pleasure. That is the reasonable and the logical point of view. The point of view elaborated by our correspondent is that of the illogically and unreasonable zealot.

We have never been impressed by the argument of the wishes of the tourist, although no stranger should be denied the rights to which he has been accustomed. It is merely a question of the rights of all the people.

We have discussed this matter in temperate terms in the hope of setting an example to others who may be tempted to reply in intemperate terms.

THREE HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR

We suppose Sir Malcolm Campbell should be congratulated upon having broken the speed record—his own—but we hesitate to do that because of fear of the psychological effects of the racing demon's demonstration. It is interesting to read that a motor car of British construction, equipped with an engine of British design, can be driven at the rate of three hundred miles, or more, in an hour. The fact that a vehicle can be driven at such a rate and endure such a strain without flying into pieces is a testimony to the creative genius of the designer and to the scientific accuracy of mechanics.

It is not the factor of the speed which may be made upon the highways that is of importance nowadays. It is the factor of safety upon the roads which has become the question of supreme importance. The death rate upon the highways of the United States is about thirty-four or thirty-five thousand annually; and there is a danger of it increasing. The death rate upon British highways is about the same, relative to population. If there should be war between Italy and Ethiopia, the mortality is not likely to mount to such a figure for some time, if at all, but whatever it is, it will be pointed at with dismay as one of the proofs of the horrors of war. In addition to those killed upon the roads, hundreds of thousands are maimed and mutilated, and in many instances it would have been more tolerable for the victims of mutilation if they had been killed outright.

So, we submit, it is not higher rates of speed which should be applauded, but slower and safer rates of speed which should be enforced, if possible. We have seen evidence several times of late upon our own immediate highways that the ordinary motor can be run so fast that the factor of safety never enters the mind of the driver. We have seen drivers performing fantastic tricks with their cars, attempting to pass other cars when going up hills and around corners where the line of vision is limited, and dodging into lines of other cars, rocking and swaying like boats in a gale of wind, brakes shrieking and structure groaning with the strain, inviting disaster and possibly death to both the guilty and the innocent. The rules of safety are broken every day, and there is no one to hold the offenders to account unless an accident actually happens. The police are not like birds. They cannot be in more than one place at once. There is no longer any real pleasure in driving on the more frequented roads. Owing to the tricks of fools, or at least of pin-heads, there is no absolute assurance that a jaunt of pleasure may not end in a tragedy.

SHAW THE APOSTATE

Many things happen in the world which no common fellow can understand. There is one fellow in the world we never could comprehend from his speeches and his writings. That particular fellow is Mr. George Bernard Shaw, but we never expected to read a speech of the Irish playwright and author assailing the weak and defending the strong. Mr. Shaw practically declares that no weak nation has the right to exist when it is the purpose of the policy of a strong nation to destroy it. He says that Italy should be permitted to take possession of Abyssinia because the people of Abyssinia are an inferior race and the people of Italy are a superior race; that the Abyssinians are barbarians and the Italians highly civilized and cultured. That is what the Germans said of all the nations of the earth when they were contemplating a war of aggression and spoliation. That may be what the growing and aggressive nations of the East will be saying of the nations of the West some time in the future. There seems to be a state of war between Shaw the philanthropist and humanitarian and Shaw the philosopher and proponent of a common or garden philosopher and humanitarian might argue that there must be some good qualities and virtues in the Abyssinian civilization or it would hardly have survived the test of time for thousands of years. If all men are born free and equal and entitled to pursue happiness, and catch it if they can, in their own particular way, why should an exception be made in the case of men who happen to be born with a complexion different from that of George Bernard Shaw or us? It is argued that the condemned Emperor of the Ethiopians keeps some of his subjects in a state of slavery. Are the Italians, who are the subjects of a dictator, all free and equal under the law? Are they free to choose their own rulers and enact through representatives the laws to which they are subject? What has happened to Shaw's theories about the principles of democracy and the rights of all the people?

Discussing editorially a book called "The Tragedy of Sir Henry Thornton," The Toronto Globe says:

"The first Budget address of Prime Minister Bennett was the most devastating analysis of Canadian National finances ever placed before the public, but it was when the Railway Committee launched its attacks in 1931, through the activities of Messrs. Hansen and MacMillan and Dr. McGibbon, that the country understood what was taking place. Before the first two days' sitings were over, Mr. Marshall states, 'It became apparent that the Railway Committee had developed into an inquisition.' There were revelations of waste, of extravagance, of a Board of Directors of a closely-managed institution would not sanction. The major result of the sitings, however, was to implant in a large section of the public mind the thought that the Canadian National Railways were wrong in principle and policies and that, at any sacrifice, they had to be brought to time."

SEA DAWN

Oh, the long dune, and the low dune—
Where the sea sighing lazily
Treads the shore with foamy shoon
And gulls wheel crazily
Shy blush of waking East,
Red gold of dawn
First stir of bird and beast—
Heralds of morning!
On the horizon's crest
Smokes banners trailing—
Gulls, sullen, hunger prest
Break into walling!
Salt breeze and aul space,
Freedom Elysian
Spread sails on the sea's face
Satisfy vision!

CONSTRUCTION WORK GAINING

Substantial Increases Are Reported by City Building Inspector for 1935

A substantial gain in building figures for the first eight months of the year as compared with the corresponding period of 1934, and also a big gain in the August figures compared with those of the same month last year were announced yesterday by D. K. Kennedy, city building inspector.

Value of construction for the first eight months of this year amounts to $343,268 as compared with $177,208 for the same period of 1934. The August construction figure totals $41,247, as compared with $28,281 in August of last year.

ANOTHER OF THE SAME

Sir—Recently an ad appeared in one of the Victoria papers to the effect that any air pilot or ex-airman officer desiring to see service in Ethiopia could contact the party in setting the ad.

Could you possibly tell me how such contact could be made. May I assure you that any information that you can give me will be very gratefully received.

MAY WANT TO JOIN UP

Sir—Am given to understand that an advertisement is appearing in a Victoria paper, inviting aviators and ex-officers to communicate in connection with service in Ethiopia.

I would appreciate your advising me as to whether it is a bona fide offer, and as to how I can get in touch with the person or persons who are offering it.

OEO. E. HARRISON,

WHAT IS IT?

Sir—In reply to Mr. Ellis' valuable and thought-provoking letter, I refuse to become alarmed at the thing which seems to him to be a "remnant" of the "old world" which is still in the mind of the people who come to this country.

He speaks what the previous letter for him, but the whole trouble is the absolute truth of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "When Everybody is Somebody. No One is Anybody." The unquestionable authority of rulership rests where it rightly belongs, with the King and his Council. If it constitutes treason to import national secrets to political enemies, then what is sauce for the goose is also sauce for the gander when it comes to facilitating those same potential enemies financially with the sinews of war or for anyone to have interests, personal, vested, or otherwise, in the welfare of our Empire and its people.

There has also been much said about Mr. William Aberhart. One correspondent called him a fanatic, but, knowing him personally as I do, I assure you that he is nobody's fool, and those who think they can fry him for a green one will surely lose all the fat they put in the frying pan.

J. W. BLACKSTOCK,
1621 Quadra Street, Victoria, B.C.,

WAR CLOUDS

Sir—One of your correspondents, under the heading of "Pass Resolutions," in his righteous zeal for peace, urges a course of action by public meetings, which if carried out would have the very opposite effect to that intended. I beg to remind him of a few facts which cannot be ignored:

1. The King of Italy cannot "banish" Mussolini to some unknown place, as he is the actual ruler of Italy and the King is monarch in name only.

2. The King of Ethiopia cannot be made and held prisoner without some power or power making war on that country. Apparently he has all his countrymen behind him in this crisis.

3. Great Britain, with the full support of all the Dominions of the British Commonwealth of Nations, has been making desperate efforts to prevent the outbreak of war, even going so far as to offer to surrender some territory, and this attitude has been rebuffed by Italy or its actual ruler as a sign of weakness.

4. Canada as well as Great Britain is a member of the League of Nations, and is obligated by the Covenant of the League to assist any League member nation against the assaults of an enemy, even to the extent of using force if necessary.

5. If the League of Nations lives up to its obligations and intimates to Italy plainly that it intends to do so there will be no war in Ethiopia.

6. The League is on trial now, and if it weakly decides to let Italy pursue a war of aggression it might just as well close its doors at Geneva and cease to function. Why should we be a party to such a humiliating finish by passing resolutions as suggested by your correspondent?

What we need now more than almost anything else is Empire unity and Empire solidarity. Some day the threat of war may be on the borders of some part of our Commonwealth, in Africa or India, Australia, New Zealand, or the Pacific Coast of Canada, where your correspondent is now living, and the voice of a United Empire would be the proper answer to such a threat.

SPENCER PERCIVAL,
Port Washington, August 30, 1935.

Superintendent of Observatory Helps Science Hall Body

F. Napier Denison, Co-operating With Executive, Arranges Fine Display for Willows Exhibition—Short Wave Club to Send Out Messages

WITH members of every scientific organization and institution in the city co-operating, the Hall of Science at the Willows Exhibition will be the Mecca of nearly all those who attend the fair, which this year will be held from September 7 to 14, one day longer than in previous years.

Through the courtesy of F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, an interesting display of meteorological instruments and charts has been secured for the Hall of Science, which will be located in the old Automobile Show Building.

Recently introduced in Canada will be shown on large scale maps specially prepared by Mr. Denison for display purposes.

Temperature, pressure and rain instruments will be on display as well as other more sensitive instruments for determining weather variations.

EARTHQUAKE DATA
Mr. Denison, who is widely known in the realm of seismology, has placed at the disposal of the executive of the Hall of Science some very interesting data on some recent earthquakes.

There will be astronomical displays, including telescopes, astral maps, and other equipment essential to the study of astrophysical subjects. Chemistry, biology, mechanical science, photo-electric cell instruments, rays, and many other fascinating displays have been arranged, and a special futuristic and scientific entrance has been planned to the Hall of Science.

What is expected to be one of the most popular divisions of this exhibition is the amateur radio department, where visitors will be able to send, free of charge, radio messages to their friends in any part of Canada or the United States, and even other parts of the world.

SHORT WAVE CLUB
This division of the Hall of Science is being sponsored by the Victoria Short Wave Club, which comprises a group of local amateur radio enthusiasts whose hobby is experimenting with and studying short wave radio phenomena.

The importance of amateur radio enthusiasts can be gathered from the fact that many expeditions into wild, undeveloped territory have had to depend on communication with the outside world by amateur radio, which depends for its source of power on batteries.

In addition, amateur radio operators have proved themselves of inestimable value during periods of emergency, being called upon to transmit messages during flood conditions which enable transit companies to re-route trains, or other organizations to transmit messages to isolated communities.

So successful was last year's Hall of Science that the British Columbia Agricultural Association, this year placed at the executive's disposal a much larger area, while the Vancouver Exhibition invited the group to display there. Much of the display equipment now showing in Vancouver will be brought here and supplemented by the Victoria displays that are now being assembled. University and college students are assisting so between interesting scientific displays and also actual experiments, the public

WILL IMPROVE WATER SYSTEM

Pressure to Be Increased on Cold Harbor Road With Start of Work Shortly

Purchase of water pipes at a cost of $2,439 was authorized by the City Council last night on the recommendation of the water committee. This insures an almost immediate start on the water improvement work on Cold Harbor Road, where for years the pressure has been extremely low.

Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of the water board, explained that the pipes would cost more than at first anticipated, owing to an increase brought about by a rise in the tariff on such material.

Alderman Archie Willis moved that the work be proceeded with if the motion carried.

of the Morgan Line, were standing by three miles off the reef. The tanker Reeper also was in the vicinity.

SEVERAL ARE INJURED
The Dixie, driven by hurricane winds en route north up the Florida coast from New Orleans to New York, rammed the coral reef shortly after last midnight. Fragmentary reports by wireless indicated several of the passengers and crew had suffered minor injuries.

"The passengers, many of them on vacation, came from all parts of the country, but 108 were from the New York City area, and a number were from New Orleans and other Gulf cities.

"The captain's 'all is well' message earlier in the day was received with joy at the Morgan Line offices in New York, where relatives of passengers and crew had besieged officials for word of their rescue. United Fruit's Tropical Radio, Radiomarine Corporation and McKay Radio co-operated all day to keep communication.

The Dixie's radio apparatus was disabled for several hours and an emergency set sent weak messages. Later Tropical Radio reported her radio was repaired and she was in communication with the rescue vessels standing by.

WEATHER MODERATING
The weather was moderating tonight and nearly a dozen other vessels were headed in the Dixie's direction to offer aid should it be required.

The United Fruit liner Limon sighted the Dixie shortly after noon, a message to Tropical Radio said, but the rough weather from beginning rescue operations.

seventy-five veterans of the camp had perished. Four other Miami Rock Harbor men, however, were the same report.

Rock Harbor is on Plantation Key, about sixteen miles north of Tavernier, on the same island of Upper Matecumbe is the next key in the chain going south. The war veterans were in the camp building a long overseas highway to provide a direct over-water route between Miami and Key West.

Three Gulfport fishermen still were missing. St. Petersburg reported. They were last seen yesterday as they took off in a twenty-six-foot open boat for the Gulf fishing banks.

The wind whipped through the streets and residential sections of St. Petersburg, but at 8:30 p.m. there had been no damage except to shrubbery.

HURRICANE WARNINGS
At 9:30 p.m. the Weather Bureau of Jacksonville ordered up hurricane warnings from Punta Gorda to Camarillo on the west coast, and southeast storm warnings up on the Florida east coast from Miami to Jacksonville.

Refugees from upper Matecumbe, wounded when their frame dwellings and hospital crumbled like matchwood in the face of the storm, told tales of horror and narrow escape from death as water rushed over the key like a mill race.

All but one of the sixty-four buildings in the camp were leveled by the wind, and in the one small shack still standing rescue workers found ten of the most seriously injured of the victims on the bare floor.

INJUNCTION IS SOUGHT

Frank Higgins, K.C., for Growers, Takes Action Against Board

The B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board is being called upon to prove its right to operate. Yesterday a writ, issued out of the Supreme Court here, in which Frank Higgins, K.C., acting for the Vancouver Growers, Limited, calls upon the Marketing Board and Col. A. W. McLennan, Leslie Gilmore and A. M. Peterson, claiming to constitute the Board, and G. N. Snow, Limited, purporting to be the agents of the board, for an accounting of all moneys received by them in respect of the marketing of vegetables of the plaintiff organization. The writ calls for action along the lines indicated within eight days.

In calling for the accounting of all levies and tolls purporting to have been made by the defendant board between May 27 and July 15, 1935, there is a definite claim set up for $415.07 for labor and materials supplied by the plaintiffs in parking vegetables between June 13 and July 16, which was incurred at the request of the board.

ATTACK VALIDITY
The plaintiffs attack the validity of the marketing board Mr. Higgins, in the issue of the writ, asks for a declaration by the court that all levies or tolls purporting to be made by the defendants in respect to the marketing of vegetables grown in British Columbia are illegal or void.

Further, it is claimed that there shall be a declaration that the marketing board and the members purporting to constitute that board, and G. N. Snow, Limited, purporting to be the agents of the board, have no right to invoke the provisions of the Natural Products Marketing (B.C.) Act, or of this order in court, or to set up thereupon, on the ground that such scheme is invalid and not approved as required by law.

A declaration is asked that the Natural Products Marketing (B.C.) Act, and the Natural Products Marketing Act, 1934, are ultra vires in so far as they purport to control, regulate, restrict or impose levies or tolls on vegetables grown in British Columbia for shipment to another province.

An injunction is sought finally to restrain or prohibit the defendants from interfering with the marketing of vegetables by the plaintiffs.

ASK INJUNCTION
In connection with the move which is made by the Vancouver Growers, Limited, for an injunction against the marketing board, which Mr. Higgins is seeking, it is set out that in the operations of the board the terms "grower" and "producer" as used in the operations have been interfered with. It is set out in the legislation that a grower is entitled to vote at the meeting. The contention is that this was not actually carried out. Growers include also a producer under the regulations, it is claimed. This is interfered with by making a producer an operator of an acre of land.

It is also claimed that the right to ship from one province to another has been interfered with, which renders the legislation ultra vires.

What Eight Years Mean

"Being a user of Pacific Milk for about eight years, I would not be without it."

This much from Mrs. C's letter is worth a volume. For what has kept Pacific Milk upon her table for eight years? And what question of richness, purity, freshness, flavor and economy is not answered by these words.

PACIFIC MILK

The question of whether the board is acting within legal rights or not seems now destined to be made a subject of court decision. Argument in the case will be heard in the Supreme Court here within the next few days.

REV. W. P. BUNT ELECTED HEAD

Chosen President of Victoria Presbytery of United Church

REV. W. P. BUNT

Rev. W. P. Bunt, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Nanaimo, was yesterday elected president of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church at its half-yearly meeting in the First United Church schoolroom here.

Rev. Thomas Keyworth was re-elected secretary, while Rev. William Allan was returned as Presbytery treasurer.

Strong opposition to the sale of light wines and beer in British Columbia hotels was voiced by the Presbytery in a sternly worded resolution. Six reasons were advanced as evidence against the sale of liquor.

The Presbytery also decided to petition the Provincial Government to have the beer licence at the Hotel Richmond.

COMMITTEE NAMED

A committee composed of Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, Rev. Dr. Gerald B. Switzer, Rev. E. F. Church, R. G. Howell and W. T. Straith was appointed to interview Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, seeking his views on the liquor matter.

Ernest L. Bishop, son of Rev. C. Bishop, of Victoria, and S. Colwell, now in charge of the United Church Mission at Ahousaht, were introduced as candidates for the ministry. Rev. J. King Gordon and Rev. Mr. Borup, a retired missionary, were welcomed to the sessions.

David Martin, student at Clatsop, West Coast Indian mission, was granted permission to stay there for one more year. It was announced that Rt. Rev. Dr. Richard Roberts, moderator of the United Church, will visit Victoria and Vancouver Island from November 10 to 12.

James Hood presided in the absence of Rev. H. J. Armitage, retiring president.

SIR EDWARD BEATTY VISITING VICTORIA

indicated its appeal to the public and while nothing extensive is contemplated in the way of development, improvements commensurate with the degree of popularity it achieves will be made.

In reply to a question, last night, as to what plans were being made for streamlining or air-conditioning trains, Sir Edward pointed out that latter innovation would be very expensive at present, but added he did not think that services of air-conditioned cars would be long delayed in Canada.

AIR-CONDITIONED CARS

"The Canadian railways are investigating the possibility of experimental services in light trains," the railroad head said. "Streamlining is the least important factor in the design of the new trains, air-conditioning and comfortable and easy riding qualities being the essential considerations."

"Air-conditioning in Canada would be very expensive and has not yet reached a state of efficiency which would render its installation other than an experiment. I do not expect, however, that services of air-conditioned cars will be long delayed in this country. So far as light-weight equipment is concerned, we are already fairly far advanced in the preparation for experimental services."

GRADUATE IMPROVEMENT

Favored by good weather, Sir Edward has found his trip highly rewarding, showing the company's properties to be in excellent condition. Speaking of general conditions throughout the country, he said they showed a gradual, if moderate, improvement. "There remained, however, the question of the marketing of the wheat, which Sir Edward considered the most important immediate problem facing Canada."

While rust was very severe in certain sections of the prairie, most recent estimates were for a crop greater than last year, he added. However, the extent of the rust damage could only be definitely ascertained when the turnouts were known.

WILL CELEBRATE

On the question of unification of the two great Canadian railroads, Sir Edward had little to say at this time, declaring: "The subject is one of national importance, and is primarily an economic question of vital consequence and, therefore, not one profitably discussed in the middle of an election campaign."

To commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the completion of the main line of the C.P.R., Sir Edward will be in Victoria on September 10 and 11, and in November will visit the Pacific coast and the interior.

In expressing himself as in favor of sane liquor laws, the railroad president declared that the sale of beer and light wines in hotels was not a desirable thing, and that it was an advantage to communities such as Victoria, where there were every year entertained thousands of Americans.

He was also accustomed to more generous sumptuary laws.

AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Sir Edward paid Premier T. D. Pattullo a visit shortly after arriving yesterday, and in the afternoon, with his party, motored out to R. P. Butchart's gardens. In the evening they were guests of the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson at Government House.

Here with Sir Edward were W. A. Black, Montreal, president of Ogilvie Flour Mills and a director of the C.P.R.; Norman J. Dawes, Montreal, president of National Breweries; C. F. Sise, Montreal, president of the Bell Telephone Company; R. S. McLaughlin, Ottawa, president of General Motors and a director of C.P.R.; James A. Richardson, Winnipeg, president of James A. Richardson & Sons, Limited, and a director of C.P.R.; J. W. Hobbs, Toronto, president of the Canadian Glass Company and of the Continental Life Insurance Company and a director of C.P.R.

Others in the party are W. M. Neel, Winnipeg, vice-president of C.P.R. Western Lines; H. P. Mathews, Montreal, general manager of C.P.R. Hotels; A. E. Robertson, Winnipeg, assistant general manager of C.P.R. Hotels; and Charles A. Cotterell, Vancouver, assistant general manager of Western Lines.

Retaliation Considered By Council

When the City Council's attention was drawn to the fact last night that a city grocery has to pay a $10 licence fee in order to deliver groceries in Saanich, members of the aldermanic board were quite surprised.

They immediately instructed the city solicitor to investigate the legal aspects of such a licence, while others speculated on what revenues they could obtain from similar licences charged Saanich woodmen, milkmen, grocers and others delivering in the city.

Announcements

Superfluous Hair on the face is admittedly the most hideous feminine blemish. Women very rarely speak of this disfigurement, but secretly and anxiously try every promised cure they see advertised, only to find to their sorrow that the growth is not abated by their use. Electrolysis alone is the only safe and effective method of removing the hair. This is the only advertisement which is absolutely true. Women who earnestly desire to find the truth will recognize it. CAMPBELL EXCEEDS 300 MILES AN HOUR

When told he had failed by a fraction to make it today, and announced he would take to the thirteen-mile course again Thursday.

With the 300-mile-an-hour record his, however, he called off further runs.

"I will leave immediately for New York to sail September 12 for London," he said.

The change in time that brought the United Englishman the five-minute or better record was announced after a conference among A.A.A. officials. The error was in the computation of figures taken from the timing tape.

ERROR IN SUBTRACTION

The tape, it was said, showed the error of 10-100ths of a second in subtraction. This error caused Sir Malcolm to be credited with 299.566 miles per hour on the second run. Actually, he roared down the rail roadbed on his second trial at a speed of 298.013, according to the record books, after an initial run of 304.331.

He set the mark of 276.816 at Daytona Beach, Fla., last March 7. T. E. Allen, secretary of the contest board of the association, issued the following statement:

"The run northward over the measured mile was made in 11.82 seconds, or at a rate of 304.331 miles per hour. The trip southward was actually made in 12.08 instead of the 12.18 seconds he was credited with. This was at the rate of 298.013 miles per hour."

ATTAINS AMAZING SPEED

On his first streak over the thirteen-mile straightaway Sir Malcolm attained the amazing speed of 304.331 miles an hour, which nearly equaled the United States airplane record of 304.88, but was well under the world plane speed mark of 423.822.

As he hurtled past the last measured mile flags, death stared him in the face. The left front tire

Married Couple Will Make Home At Sprout Lake

CHEMINUS, Sept. 3.—All Saints Church, Westholme, was the scene of a wedding of community-wide interest when on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock Marguerite (Peggy) B. Dyke, second daughter of Mrs. M. A. Dyke, Crofton, and Mr. Peter Wyllie, second son of Mrs. J. Wyllie, Cheminus, were united in marriage. Friends of the bride had decorated the beautiful little church with autumn flowers in shades of white, yellow and pink.

The bride made a beautiful picture as she entered the church to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus," played by Mr. E. Inglis of Nanaimo. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. S. Dyke, and wore a lovely gown of white Chantilly lace, made on princess lines, with long sleeves and semi-train, worn with long wedding veil and coronet of tulle and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses, carnations and sweet peas.

PRETTY ATTENDANTS
The bride's attendants were Miss Lily Wyllie, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Richard McBride. The bridesmaid looked very attractive in her colonial frock of maize organza, with a maize muff adorned with a pink picture hat and pink lace mittens. The matron of honor was charming in a princess gown of floral pink chiffon in pastel shades, worn with a white picture hat. She carried pink carnations and blue-depshiums.

The groom was supported by Mr. George E. Robinson, of Cheminus, and Mr. L. Foster, officiating as usher at the church. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Brankston, of Nanaimo, sang "At Dawning."

LARGE RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, at Crofton, about eighty guests being invited. Mrs. Dyke was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Wyllie, who wore a navy blue ensemble with hat to match and a Victorian corsage of heavy coffee brown floral crepe, with trimmings of rust shade crepe, and rust-colored hat to match, with a corsage bouquet of copper-colored roses and violets.

The bride's table was centred with a beautiful decorated three-tier wedding cake, the gift of Mrs. Ada Murray, Cheminus. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Stanley Dyke, Mrs. Lathrop, Mrs. Simmonds, Mrs. E. Howe and Miss Cissie Wyllie.

TO LIVE UP-ISLAND
The bride and groom left by motor for Sprout Lake, where they will reside, the bride travelling in a gown of navy crepe, with topcoat of navy-wool-trimmed with grey wolf, a navy blue hat and accessories to match. Among the many gifts was a beautiful wicker tea wagon from the pupils of Cheminus School, where the bride had taught for thirteen years; from the teaching staff, a silver carving set, and from the parishioners, and Sunday school pupils of Westholme and Crofton, where the bride taught for fifteen years, a beautiful mantle clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyllie have been popular in the district, the groom being well known in sports circles. Invited guests from out of town included Mrs. E. W. Waller, Mrs. M. Taylor and Miss Cobbett, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. H. Ercell, Cowichan Station; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McDonald, Duncan; Mrs. B. Coulter, and Mr. and Mrs. Newbury, Mission; Mrs. E. Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

J. T. Braden Is Honored By S.P.C.A.

The ladies of the committee of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, recently served tea in the society's room, the guest of honor being J. T. Braden, the oldest active member of this branch. Many good things were served, prominent among which was a cake bearing twenty-one candles, one for each year of Mr. Braden's activities as a member of the committee.

Mr. Braden received an inspector's badge in 1910, joined the committee in 1913, and filled the office of treasurer from 1916 to 1920. He has been a member of the society continuously for thirty-three years. In 1888 R. Jones, J. Stuart Yates, T. R. Smith, W. H. Mason and Dr. R. Hamilton, veterinary surgeon, all of Victoria, formed a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. There was no inspector and cases were tried before Hon. A. N. Richards, police magistrate, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

WAS INCORPORATED
In February, 1895, the B.C.S.P.C.A. was incorporated by Act of Parliament in the following names: Rev. J. Campbell and John Frank, Victoria; Messrs. R. A. Anderson and John Campbell, Vancouver; Rev. E. P. Fletchling and Rev. A. Lee, Kam-loops, and Messrs. D. S. Curtis, H. Elliot, J. C. Armstrong and D. Robinson, of New Westminster. The first meeting for organization was held in the Board of Trade rooms, New Westminster, on October 8, 1895. The following were charter members: D. S. Curtis, J. C. Armstrong, D. Robinson, New Westminster; Rev. E. P. Fletchling, Kamloops; Rev. Dr. Campbell, Victoria; and John Campbell, Vancouver; J. C. Brown was elected president and C. C. Fisher, secretary-treasurer.

The Victoria branch was formed in 1897, the officers and executive committee being as follows: Patron, His Honor Lieutenant-Governor McInnes; president, A. J. Dallan; vice-president, Major C. T. Dupont; counsel, Lindley Crease, veterinary surgeon; Dr. Hamilton, secretary-treasurer; Dr. H. Holden, secretary-militar, Rev. Dr. Campbell, Miss Agnes Dean Cameron, F. B. Killo, Rev. W. Barber and W. F. Best. The Vancouver branch was formed in 1898.

TOOK FIRST STEPS
The B.C.S.P.C.A. owes its origin to the activities of the late J. B. Knight, of Ashcroft, who, in 1894, took the first practical steps towards the formation of the society and who continued the good work until success crowned his efforts.

The head office of the B.C.S.P.C.A. is now in Victoria, the president being A. J. Dallan, 625 Niagara Street. The office of the Victoria branch is at Room "A," Campbell Building; F. G. Crowhurst, president; A. R. Sherwood, secretary-treasurer, and O. A. Allen, inspector of cases of cruelty or neglect should be reported to E. 8351.

What Today Means

"VIRGO"
If September 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m. from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

If you courageously face any situation which might arise this day you will probably win out in the long run, and have ample cause to rejoice. The indications, however, are that the day will be comparatively free of any serious complications, and that any annoyance which might come up will be so trivial it will hardly be worthy of attention. Make up your mind, in advance if you are wise, not to entertain unpleasant or disturbing thoughts. Gentility will prove helpful in business. Any lack of it is likely to prove a mistake. A good day for serious activities, planning, entertainments and the writing of letters. Coercive methods in either business or social activities ought not to be employed, if the best results are sought. Married and engaged couples, and sweethearts will find it a good judgment to listen attentively rather than to be too talkative.

If a woman and September 4 is your birthday, you have the gift of being able to make friends readily. Having probably a decidedly democratic nature, your friends most likely differ tremendously, varying from the socially eligible to the lowly poor. You probably will be in the position to wield a good influence over many people. Your strong personality very likely attracts a great deal of favorable attention, and may be helpful if you decide on a career. As a professional hostess, demonstrator, lecturer, teacher or writer you might gain worthwhile recognition. Marriage possibly will help you to realize some of your ambitions.

The child born on September 4 generally, from the time it is old enough to talk, displays an unlimited amount of self-assurance, and a glossiness of tongue, that may win it many admirers. If a man and September 4 is your natal day, you may be too trusting for your own good. You probably are inclined to spend money with a lavish hand. Be careful that the spirit of good fellowship does not result in a slim pocketbook. Medicine, journalism, politics, architecture, engineering and selling are among vocational lines most likely to attract you.

Gladys Glad On Beauty

Back in the days when Gladys was a lass, bathing suits were so voluminous that they covered a girl from neck to ankle. In those times, swimming virtually was an unknown sport, insofar as women were concerned. And the damsel who ventured out ankle-deep into the briny deep, was a laughing stock.

Today, however, bathing suits have been reduced to a minimum. But that's not the only way in which things have changed for nowadays, women go to swimming just as they go to work and to school.

This perfectly all right, of course, if a girl does the right thing by her hair afterwards.

RINSE HAIR
If you are doing any intensive swimming, remember that if your hair becomes wet, it is advisable that you rinse it with clear water after your swim. You don't actually need to shampoo your hair. But most bathing places are equipped with showers, and you can utilize one of the showers to rinse your hair. Then take a towel and dry your locks thoroughly. Of course, no damsel can stand under a shower after her hair toward the back of her head, and expect it to look just as well after the rinsing. The thing she can do, however, is to press the waves back in her hair after she has rinsed it. With a bit of practice, she should become quite expert at it.

HOW IT'S DONE

In the actual setting of the hair, first place your middle finger in the position where you wish your hair wave to be, and then press it firmly against your head. Then place your comb in your hair close to your finger, and bring the hair forward toward your forehead in a graceful dip. Pinch the resulting ridge between your middle finger and index finger to make it more pronounced. After the first ridge has been completed, place your middle finger directly below it and comb your hair toward the side of your head. Pinch the second ridge in the same manner as the first. Continue this for the entire length of your hair. If you wish to curl up the ends, twist them into tiny loops, and then permit your hair to dry thoroughly.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

VARIKOSE VEINS—SOMETIMES RETURN AFTER INJECTION OR OPERATION

When it was discovered that varicose veins could be injected with various substances which caused them to shrivel up, and that it was no longer necessary to undergo operation and remain in hospital for two or three weeks, it was a great boon to many sufferers.

Lately it has been found that, just as in the case when operation is performed, sometimes these varicose veins return, much to the disappointment of patients.

However, though this was somewhat discouraging, a method which combines the operation and the injection is now being used, which does not require that the patient enter the hospital, as it can be done in any well-equipped surgery.

A test is first made to see if the valves in the large vein on the inner side of the thigh are in good shape; that is, will hold blood. This is done with the patient standing, and pressure is applied with the thumb of one hand on the lower end of this large vein. The blood is then milked upwards, and if the vein remains collapsed, it shows that the valves are in good condition.

If, however, the vein fills from above, it shows that the valves are in poor condition. If then the valves will not hold the blood from running back down the veins of the thigh, and let it, again, snake up, the vein must be tied off as high up as the thighs as possible, and the patient returns later to have the veins lower down injected.

Which the valves are holding, however, the injection with one of the substances is made without it being necessary, as a rule, to tie off the vein up above. As soon as the injection is made a pad is placed over the puncture and the needle withdrawn. The pad is bound firmly in place by adhesive tape. Injections may be repeated every two or three days.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

LAKE HILL
The Lake Hill Women's Institute held its September meeting yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. Findlay, the president, in the chair. The principal business was the reception of reports in connection with the recent flower show held in the hall on August 28. The convener gave a full report, thanking the members for their assistance and congratulating the various sub-convener for the efficient manner in which they had carried out their allotted duties.

Special mention was made of the Sanic's nurses' exhibit; of M. Arrowsmith's fine display of flowers, and of the exhibit of pickles and jams made by the Holman Packing Company. The treasurer's financial statement was also very satisfactory. The first of a series of wool bees to be held during the coming months will take place on Thursday, September 26, commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. A. Porter, convener, Mrs. Findlay was the tea hostess.

FIELDS STARS IN DOMINION COMEDY

"Man on the Flying Trapeze" Current Attraction in Local Theatre

W. C. Fields, laugh promoter of the age, reaches the top of his form as a comedian and pantomimist in his latest laugh-riot, "Man on the Flying Trapeze," now running its merry way at the Dominion Theatre.

An amusing and quite plausible story carries Mr. Fields from one uproarious incident to another. This time he is cast as a down-trodden, submissive husband, perched on the edge of his wife and mother-in-law, constantly supported in his scrapes by his daughter, Mary Brian. At the office he is a memory expert, clerk for a woolen manufacturer.

The action comes principally about Fields' efforts to attend a wrestling match. Unfortunately, his petty young brother-in-law steals his ticket while the comedian, in one of his famous retiring scenes, has gone to the cellar to investigate the presence of burglars in the house. His troubles begin at once, from the moment he is jailed instead of the housebreakers to the time he gets to the fight after the "wrestler" has been thrown off.

He attends his mother-in-law's "funeral."

Then suddenly the girl turns up. She is Loretta Young, an American, who is staying in China to cater to the whims of her eccentric aunt. Tired of the emptiness of the lives of the people about her, she finds in Boyer her ideal of a man.

Although they feel that their love is courting disaster, they cannot say no to the impulses of their hearts. Boyer, still intent on his business, is preparing the coup that will make him the master of the Orient. Then, at a party given for Loretta Young, he reveals the secret of his illegitimate birth to a startled Shiang-hai.

His future in Shanghai ruined, Boyer flees to the interior of China. He Loretta Young, who cannot give him up, follows close behind. In an absorbing and tender climax these two make a strange decision as to their love.

COLUMBIA P. T. Barnum, self-styled "Prince of Humbug," comes back to a hearty life at the Columbia Theatre, in the person of Wallace Beery, who plays the matchless showman in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Great Dictator."

POIGNANT LOVE STORY SCREENED

Charles Boyer and Loretta Young Co-Starring in "Shanghai"—Plot Unusual.

Opening today at the Capitol Theatre is an intensely dramatic and gripping tale of the Orient. It is Paramount's "Shanghai," which stars Loretta Young and Charles Boyer, in a picture revealing for the first time the modern Orient, the land where races, traditions and ambitions are flashing in eternal conflict.

A mysterious figure, presumably a Russian refugee, Boyer beats the stars of finance, hurries to gain mastery of the Orient. Unimpeded by love or mercy, he is cold, indomitable, ruthless.

Then suddenly the girl turns up. She is Loretta Young, an American, who is staying in China to cater to the whims of her eccentric aunt. Tired of the emptiness of the lives of the people about her, she finds in Boyer her ideal of a man.

Driven from behind by armed, masked vigilantes, Solomon Nitzburg, Petaluma, Cal., poultryman (left) and Jack Green, of Santa Rosa, alleged aide to San Francisco Communists, were photographed marching, covered from head to foot with tar and feathers, down Santa Rosa's main street during the early hours of August 22. Honking horns of the vigilantes brought hundreds to witness this grim warning to agitators in the heart of the Northern California apple orchard district.

PLAYHOUSE Speed, action and romance are the high points of "After Office Hours," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production currently showing at the Playhouse Theatre. A fast-moving story of adventurous romance, it deals with a society murder mystery against a background of modern-day newspaper life.

Looking at England

Liverpool and the Manchester Canal—Ministers on Holidays and Reductions of Election Date—Lady Houston, the Patriot—Canned Messages and Protective Measures if War Comes

By J. EDWARD NORCROSS

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (By Mail).—The Mersey, which J. B. Priestley seems quite unable to find when he visits Liverpool, that is, looking more like its old self lately.

Looking for the best in the glorious sunshine, half a dozen great liners lay in the stream one day last week, taking their turns at the Landing Stage, three moored in Atlantic traffic and the other three, as their gay bunting indicated, waiting to embark passengers for Summer cruises.

Liverpool is very far indeed from being prosperous, but it is more hopeful of the future than it has been for years. The officials of the big steamship companies believe that a boom is coming in North Atlantic passenger traffic, and they are well under way early next Summer. Fears had already been expressed that the Queen Mary, the first season of which, judging by the ad-verse bookings, looks fair to be triumphantly successful, would fill her staterooms at the expense of the smaller vessels next Summer; but so great has been the recent improvement in the Liverpool passenger traffic, that these have been allayed. The improvement has been most marked, of course, in the passenger lists of vessels berthing at Southampton, the Britannic and the Georgic, now lost to Liverpool, carrying more than 1,000 passengers each.

But the Liverpool boats, also, are filling up nicely, and this port is quite confident that it will get a large share of the increased traffic—something less, however, than the lion's share it took as a matter of right for nearly a century.

Best of all, if Sir Percy Bates is right, the recovery points infallibly to a turn of the tide towards better world conditions. For, as the chairman of the Cunard White Star Company said recently, the North Atlantic trade cannot prosper unless the world prospers.

IN MANCHESTER

Liverpool, by the way, is not Lancashire's only great port. It surprised many people to learn, on a recent occasion, that Manchester now ranked fourth in England, with an annual tonnage approaching six millions and revenue of $6,585,415, a dock estate of 400 acres and accommodation at its wharves for vessels of 15,000 tons.

It is more than a century since Manchester came to work in earnest to make what seemed the widest of visions an accomplished fact—the building of a great ship canal that should carry steamships larger than any afloat at that time, up from the sea to the very doors of its factories.

It celebrated the jubilee of the legislation of the enterprise on the other day, for it was on August 6, 1865, that Queen Victoria signed the royal assent to the Manchester Ship Canal Bill.

It had been a long, hard fight. Two previous bills had been rejected, adding enormously to the parliamentary expenses. Every vested interest that foresaw competition in even the remotest degree, opposed the measure; and the most eminent counsel in the country, retained at tremendous cost, wrangled over it before the committee.

Liverpool, fearing that the canalization of the Mersey would cause the silting up of the estuary, fought fiercely to bring about the defeat of the proposal.

In quarters less vitally concerned, ridicule was poured on it.

EARLY STRUGGLE

It was made the subject of a Punch cartoon entitled "Manchester-sur-Mer. A sea-dutiful prospect," which depicted children playing on beaches in the neighborhood of the mills of Manchester and Salford.

It was denounced before the Commons' committee as a wild scheme, "as great a delusion as the South Sea Bubble."

In short, nobody outside Manchester, when it was first mooted, thought it anything but a gigantic piece of foolishness and a vast mountain of prejudice had to be overcome before the right to proceed with it could be obtained.

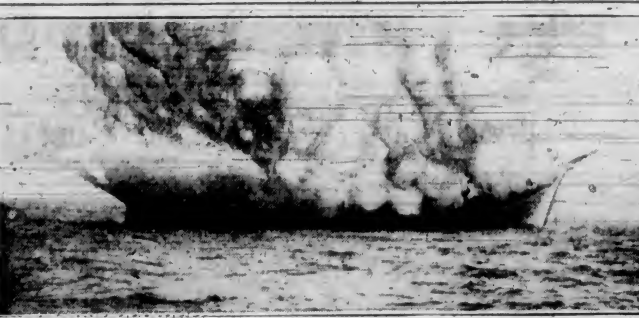

Manchester went wild with joy when the bill was finally passed. A "trades procession" of 30,000 workers marched through the city, singing and cheering.

The glassworkers, in particular, made a very fine show. They carried glass awards and wore glass helmets which glittered very prettily in the sun.

But legislation was only the first hurdle. Little or nothing had been done to finance the project itself, the parliamentary proceedings having exhausted all the funds in hand. The story of construction, in fact, parallels in many particulars of the financial struggle involved that of the Canadian Pacific Railway, completed just as the building of the canal was about to begin.

It was another two years, in fact, before actual work was got under way. The engineering difficulties were enormous. The canalization

As Flames Consume Gambling Ship

Three men were burned severely when flames recently destroyed the luxurious gambling ship Casino, anchored off Long Beach, Cal. The injured men were members of the crew of the gaming vessel. A terrific blast in the engine room is said to have started the blaze, which rapidly spread to gasoline and oil stores. PHOTO shows the Casino, a mass of flames from bow to stern.

The raid precautions department of the Home Office.

It dealt with anti-gas precautions and advised local authorities of the steps that should be taken to prepare for the contingency that gas bombs might be dropped by raiders on British towns.

The Socialistic Town Council of Nelson refused to act on the suggestions of the Government.

The Government's way of preparing against gas attacks was not the right way, the council's resolution declared. Adoption of the suggestions would only "contribute to the creation of fear and war-mindfulness and would, as far as people trusted for safety to the proposed precautions—be deluding the public into the belief that they can protect themselves against prospective aerial warfare."

The council called on the Government "to operate the will of the people and use its influence to secure the abandonment of war machinery and methods."

Admittedly, there is reason to doubt whether effective precautions can be taken against gas if only for the reason that nobody knows what gas may be available when the chemists have carried their devil work a few steps farther, and the mask that will stop one gas may be quite useless against another.

Advise to the Government to secure the abandonment of war machinery and methods, however, seems just a little futile in view of present conditions in Europe.

Nor is there any sound reason why, while the Government does what it can to persuade other nations to abandon gas as a war weapon, people should not be advised to fit up gas-proof rooms in their homes.

PROTECTIVE MEASURE

At all events, the national executive committee of the Labor Party is in agreement with the Government to this extent, that it recommends Labor members of local councils to take their part in the organization of protective services against air raids.

The Labor executive lists the several proposals of the Government circular, and continues:

"To those who witnessed firsthand the results of air raids in the war of 1914 to 1918, these various proposals are obvious necessities. They constitute the actual effects of war that cannot and should not be left for emergency organization, if and when the need arises."

The executive finds that the need for precautions is one of the consequences of the folly of the Government, but it does not think that people should sit down to be gassed on that account.

Thus Nelson seems to be off step with the rest of the country, except Oldham, another Lancashire town with a Socialistic council—but Nelson is one of the last places raiding airplanes are likely to find.

It is tucked away in a snug, little valley between the Yorkshire fells and the Lancashire moors, and raiders are not likely to waste their bombs on it when within striking distance of Manchester and Liverpool.

Oldham should know better. It is not very far from a manufacturing town that was badly smashed up by bombs during the war. The raiders mistook it for Manchester.

OLD CHRONOMETERS

Some years ago Commander R. T. Gould discovered some old chronometers stowed away like junk somewhere in the Naval College at Greenwich. He found that these included the eighteenth century chronometers that revolutionized the art of navigation in the latter years of the 18th century.

At that time the instruments had been perfected by means of which it was a simple matter to find one's latitude fairly accurately when at sea. To find one's longitude, however, a good timekeeper was necessary, and as there were none, navigators bound "say" for the River Plate, would sail South until they reached its latitude and then turn westward and sail on until they sighted land, never until then knowing just where they were between Africa and South America.

In the reign of George II, the British Government offered a prize of £20,000, the equivalent of a quarter of a million dollars, perhaps in twentieth century currency, for a marine timekeeper which would keep reasonably accurate time throughout a long voyage.

The prize was won, not by a clockmaker, but by a carpenter, a Yorkshireman named Harrison, who made four chronometers, one of which lost only five seconds on a voyage to Jamaica.

It was a duplicate of this chronometer that was made for Captain Cook and used by him on two of his famous voyages. Late in the century Captain Vancouver used it when he explored the waters around Vancouver Island, and with its aid made charts so accurate that they are the basis of the Admiralty charts of today.

It was Harrison's four chronometers and the duplicate used by

A COLLEGE PROFESSOR DISCOVERED

That Often It Isn't their Brains, but their Pens that Run Dry—Cause Failure—in Classes and Exams

So he invented this sacless Vacumatic, and Parker engineered it to perfection—gave it 102% more Ink Capacity—made its Ink Level VISIBLE, so it suddenly can't go empty!

A lovely, utterly new Style—rings of luminous Pearl laminated with transparent "Jet"—wholly exclusive because design patented

YES, a scientist at a great University was amazed to find how pens that suddenly run out of ink slow down classes, demoralize thinking, and bring marks that no student wants to write home about.

This led to the birth of the revolutionary Parker Vacumatic—the miracle pen that writes 12,000 words from a single filling—shows when it's running low—tells when to refill! As in college, so in business, too—if you can't see how much ink is in your pen, how can you tell that it won't fail you just at the wrong time!

Don't expose yourself to such calamities. Go to any good store selling pens and hold this shimmering laminated Pearl and Jet Beauty to the light—see how the "Jet" rings become transparent—mysterious windows, that show the column of ink within.

No Charge for this New PLASKON UTILITY CASE (for Cigarettes or Boudoir Trifles)

With the purchase of the Parker Vacumatic Pen and Pencil Set, a gift case of exquisite charm and lasting utility. Choice of Brown or Black with Ivory Linings.

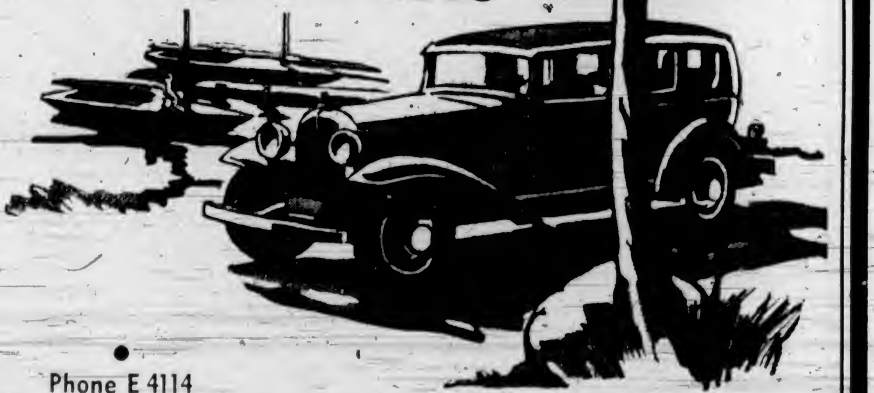

NOTE: A remarkable Parker discovery now gives the world an ink—called "Quartz Quink"—that cleanses a pen as it writes—a Parker Pen or any other. Ask for Quink instead of ink, and your pen will work like a charm.

THE OUTBREAK OF MOTOR BANDITRY in England caused a good deal of nervousness among timid motorists. There is the tale of the nervous lady who, about dusk one evening, became suspicious of the big car behind her which endeavored to attract her attention by persistent sounding of the horn. The lady put on speed and held her head for a few miles, until the big car shot past and finally drew up broadside across the road. A gentleman emerged and approached the smaller car. "I . . . I haven't got any money with me," faltered the unfortunate woman. "Madam," said the man, "I don't want any money (small, on giving it curiously. Time only want to tell you that about and again she cut short some innocent juvenile comment on the proper guest and said: "And now, Mr. tubercule with a frantic, well-X, will you have one or two lumps judged "Sh-h-h, Johnny, little boys with your nose!"

BRUNSDON'S BOYS CAPTURE CITY BALL HONORS

Todd Captures City Golf Championship From Kenny Lawson

Scores 2 and 1 Victory in Final at Oak Bay Links on Labor Day—Recovery Shots Feature of Interesting Match—Big Gallery Trails Pair—C. Thomas "B" Class Winner

PIER knocking at the clubhouse door for several seasons, Jimmy Todd, left-handed star of the Victoria Golf Club, crashed through to the city crown on Labor Day at the Oak Bay Links when he took a 2-and-1 decision from Ken Lawson, Uplands Club, who made a gallant effort to retain the title for a second successive year. A large gallery, one of the biggest ever seen in the city, trailed the pair over the thirty-five holes required to settle the argument. Brilliant recovery shots by both players featured the match.

Playing smoothly over the first nine, Lawson reached the first hole of the morning round holding a one-up lead, but on the incoming journey, Todd went to work after losing the tenth and halving the next two, and won four of the next five to reach the eighteenth three up, a comfortable lead to work on as the afternoon round started.

Todd continued his steady display and was five up at the twenty-first hole, but Lawson threw caution to the winds with a defeat starting him in the face and rallied desperately to carry the smart southpaw shot-maker to the thirty-fifth before admitting defeat, one which cost him the crown he lifted for his part, but it wasn't good enough.

Lawson captured the twenty-second, halved the next hole and then picked up another by winning the twenty-fifth. The next hole he halved, leaving Todd still two up at the three-quarter distance. The next three were also halved in 4, 5, 5, and then Lawson sliced Todd's lead to a single hole by winning the thirty-first with a four. Todd bumped into more trouble at the next hole, his drive catching a bunker, and when he failed to recover safely, the southpaw lost the hole and the match was squared. Todd came back at the dog-leg thirty-third and after a long drive, he smacked a long iron to the green and canned his putt for a birdie three. Lawson's his par four, but it wasn't good enough.

ENDS AT 35TH
The thirty-fourth was halved in four, but Todd had to pull off a neat approach shot to gain his half. The Oak Bay golfer ended the match on the thirty-fifth group. Again he had to make a brilliant recovery shot as he smacked his drive into the rough, behind a tree alone to the sixteenth tee. He played his second to the edge of the green, while Lawson, after a good drive, was short with his second and his third went fifteen feet past the flag. Todd was six feet to the right with his approach and sank his putt for a win as Lawson missed his attempt, and the match was all over.

C. Thomas, young Uplands Club member, won the class "B" city championship by defeating Bert Irish, also Uplands, in the eighteen-hole final, 6 and 5.

At the finish of the matches J. E. Wilson, president of the Victoria Golf Club, assisted by C. W. Pangman and A. V. Price, honorary president, and secretary, respectively, of the Victoria and District Golf League, officiated at the presentation of prizes.

The city final was refereed by A. V. Price and E. D. Todd.

Pepper Martin Hitting the Dust

Pepper Martin, third baseman and "sliding fool" of the St. Louis Cardinals, is shown by the magic eye camera in one of his typical head-first slides into third base during a recent contest. Through Pepper's daring on the bases, the Cardinals gain many a run, which have turned several seeming defeats into victory. Largely through Pepper's work, on defense and attack, the Cardinals are now on the top in the National League standings.

Myers and Davidson in Close Victory at Hill

By W. H. YOUNG
In one of the most evenly-contested games witnessed in this district for many a long day, E. Myers and W. Davidson, of the Burnside Club, succeeded in capturing the Yarrow Trophy in the final game against G. Ozard and S. Clarke, of the C.R. Club, at the Crystal Garden greens, on Monday evening. How close the game was may be judged by the fact that on six different occasions during the eighteen ends played the score stood at a tie.

At the conclusion of the fourteenth end the score was 10-11. In the next two ends the Burnside men gained an advantage of 4 points, and apparently were assured of victory in the first session. In this, however, the fates decided differently, as, with his final bowl, Skip Clarke took out his opponent's shot, and scored a four-end, again knotting the count. In the eighteenth and final end, Myers, the Burnside lead, succeeded in laying his bowl light to the "jack", and there it remained until the last bowl had been delivered. On several occasions both Myers, Ozard and Clarke came within inches of dislodging the winning shot, but they were unable to complete the task.

PRIZES PRESENTED
Immediately after the conclusion of the contest, J. W. Mercer, president of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association, was called upon to distribute the prizes, and in a happy vein complimented the winners as well as those who were less fortunate. The prize winners were: First, E. Myers and W. Davidson, Burnside Club.

BLANKS CAFE NINE TO TAKE SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP, 3-0

"Red" Palmer Shuts Out Poodle Dog Squad in Final Game of Season to Win Another Title and Trophy—Winners Complete Successful Season—Fair Crowd Attends

With smiling "Red" Palmer, their coach, leading them to the victory, the Blanks Cafe Nine, who defeated Brunson's Boys, Vancouver Island champions, 11-5, in the third game of the provincial play-off series, Saturday at Vancouver, the locals split a twin bill with the Mainlanders, winning the initial fixture 5-4, and dropping the afterpiece, 17-1.

Kelly Comerford, second string hurler in the local camp, who defeated Jones' Boys on Saturday on the Mainland, started on the slab for Brunson's Boys, and went along nicely until the fifth frame, when he bumped into trouble, and was yanked in favor of "Red" Palmer, ace moundman.

COMERFORD GOES
After two scoreless frames the visitors opened the scoring by pushing one run across in the third. Brunson's Boys came back in their half of the fourth session and evened the count. In the next stanza the Mainlanders really got to Comerford's offerings and with a lot of base knocking, they ran in two more in the fifth frame, to silence the big guns of the Vancouver nine.

Brunson's Boys, fighting hard before a bumper home-town crowd, drove over two markers in their half of the seventh frame, and added two more in the ninth. Jones' Boys finished their scoring by adding four runs in the last frame.

The Vancouver nine collected eleven bingles from the offerings of Comerford and Palmer, four more than Brunson's Boys garnered from the speedball twirling of Buss Haugh, Mainland ace.

U.S. NET PLAY IS RAINED OUT
Inclement Weather Forces National Tennis Meet Into Idleness

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 3.—Rain today caused postponement until tomorrow of play in the men's and women's national singles tennis championships at the West Side Tennis Club here.

Frankie Parker succumbed to Fred Perry in straight sets yesterday, in the men's national singles tennis championship, but the after-effects of his defeat are felt mostly by the United States Lawn Tennis Association today.

Parker went down, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0, in a fourth-round match, which saw the defending champion prevail because he was made to play in a chill, wet atmosphere, so "all out" in the last two sets and give one of the finest exhibitions ever turned in here.

For two years Parker has been one of the association's bright young hopefuls. He is one of the founders of the U.S.L.T.A. is counting on to wrest the international Davis Cup from England's Perry and Bunny Austin.

In Perry's opinion, "It is very doubtful if Parker will ever grow up to cup stature."

"I never heard of anybody who got to the top without a forehead," Perry said.

Back From England
Miss Gladys V. Tanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tanner, of Kelowna, returned Saturday afternoon after a three months' visit to England. Miss Tanner left here on June 1 and sailed June 3 from New York on the French liner Normandie.

This was the maiden voyage of the mammoth liner and Miss Tanner during the voyage of four and a half days had the pleasure of meeting many "Toll-free" people from France and the United States.

Miss Tanner visited her brother, Norman, in London, and from there she visited Scotland, France, Belgium and other European centres.

She returned on the Guernsey liner Aurania, arriving at Quebec August 27. She traveled from Victoria to New York on the Great Northern's new air-conditioned train. She says that the new equipment revolutionizes train travel and feels it will be only a short time before all trains will have artificially treated air.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Sunshine on Two Days Simultaneously—The Bering Strait, which connects the Arctic and Pacific Oceans, narrows down to a mere fifty-six miles across where one can see from Cape Prince of Wales on the American shore to East Cape (Dezhnev) in Asia. Almost exactly in the middle of the strait are two small islands, Nunarbook and Ignalook, known as the Diomed Islands, which are but one mile apart.

Nunarbook is a Russian Siberia and Ignalook belongs to the United States. The International Date Line as well as the international boundary, runs between the Islands. When it is Sunday in Ignalook, it is Monday in Nunarbook, yet the sun rises, shines all day, and sets on both spots at exactly the same time.

MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS HEADING DOWN STRETCH

Cards Still Two Games Ahead of New York Giants

St. Louis Nursing Slim Lead as Clubs Open Last Month of Campaign—Cubs Only Trailing by Two and a Half Games—American League Race One-Sided—Games Rained Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (P.)—Washed down by the rain, the sixteen major league teams were rolling eastward and westward to begin the 1935 stretch drive.

National League teams, with three contenders promising a close fight right down to the tape, begin long stands in the West. The scene of the rather one-sided race in the American League shifts to Eastern arenas.

The Giants open a four-game set in Cincinnati tomorrow and then proceed to Pittsburgh for four jousts with the troublesome Pirates. From there they invade St. Louis for their final battle with the Cardinals, then wind up their last Western invasion with four games in Chicago.

The world-champion Cards are two games ahead of the Giants and two and a half games in front of the Cubs.

In the American League, with first and second places as good as in the bag for the Tigers and Yankees, there is a hot fight on among Cleveland, Chicago and Boston third and fourth money. Already nine games to the good, the Tigers expect to fatten their lead in five games with the Athletics.

Two cavalry officers were invited to judge a show of eastern donkeys. During the course of the afternoon they overheard some lurid and picturesque language from the entrants, and at last, when they were on their way home, one said: "Well, Bill, it's a long time since I heard such real full-blooded cursing as we did this afternoon."

"That's true," commented the other. "I haven't heard anything like it since I left the Holy Land!"

ORANGERY IS HOME FIRST AT HASTINGS

Hamber Stable's Entry Tops Field in Exhibition Handicap on Mainland

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (P.)—Orangery, three-year-old mare of the E. W. Hamber Stable, led from wire to wire to top the Exhibition Handicap, feature race of today's programme at Hastings Park.

Overlooked in the machines, Orangery went to the post at 4 to 1. She was hustled to the front going to the first turn and opened a substantial lead under restraint which she held all the way. The mare returned $10.35 for a $2 mutual ticket.

Jack B., a three-year-old owned by W. Osborne, sprang a surprise when he took the second in a nose finish with Arrowfoot.

A heavily-played favorite, Maize B., of the Emerald Stock Farm, was fully extended to win the fourth race. Away like a flash at the start to take a lead, she was, however, forced to a hard stretch-drive when threatened by Mar Tre, an E. W. Hamber filly, who took the place.

Brother Duo Is Well Up

Recent averages show Bob Johnson, of the Athletics, and Roy Johnson, of the Red Sox, in a brotherly battle of bats. Bob's recent slump brought him within a few percentage points of his brother Roy in the hitting column. Earlier in the season Bob led the league. Roy is hitting around .324, his brother, .319. The two players are part Cherokee Indian.

The final scores were: Vancouver, 30 and 122; Victoria, 189 for first innings.

At Macdonald Park, visiting Seattle cricketers took their third defeat of their inter-city exhibition series when they went down to a 108 to 55 defeat at the hands of the Victoria "rep" side.

Sunday at Duncan, Cowichan's eleven defeated the Sound City by six wickets and 19 runs in a two-innings fixture. Final scores were: Seattle, 86 and 62; Cowichan, 91 and 76 for four wickets.

The bowling of "Skipper" Payne and Noel Smith for the Victoria side was the feature of the inter-city fixture. Payne took six wickets for 19 runs, and Smith had the splendid figures of five wickets for 8 runs.

GRIFIN BATS WELL

From a batting standpoint the work of Griffin, young Five C's star, was outstanding, and he was undefeated at the close of the innings. Griffiths scored 64 runs, which included a four.

Martin, promising young Vancouver cricketer, had the best bowling analysis for the visitors with four wickets for 47 runs.

With the Victoria bowlers displaying good form, Seattle batsmen were unable to put on anything like a score in the match at Macdonald Park. George Wilkinson took three wickets for 19 runs; Darius three for 23; Brown two for 5; and Robbins and P. Jones one wicket each for no runs.

G. I. WARREN CAPTURES PORT ANGELES FISHING PRIZE OVER WEEK-END

While 5,000 spectators lined the shore to watch the 500 finalists of the two-day Port Angeles Salmon Derby held over the week-end, George I. Warren, Victoria publicist, commissioner, made two fine catches, the heaviest qualifying for one of the first sixteen prizes.

Had it been but a few pounds heavier, he would have won a big car. Mr. Warren went from here to Port Angeles with a group of noted inland anglers. But he was the only local fisherman to qualify for a prize.

During the presentation of the awards Mr. Warren addressed the gathering on behalf of the Victoria-Salmon Inland Anglers' Association and other inland fishing organizations.

THE DOUBLE SUPER-CHARGER

FOR FLIGHTS INTO THE STRATOSPHERE WHERE THE PILOT AS WELL AS THE ENGINE MUST BE SUPPLIED WITH AIR UNDER PRESSURE, WILEY POST USED THE DOUBLE SUPER-CHARGER.

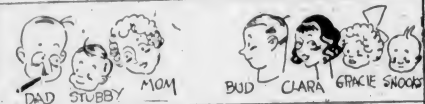

FROM THIS SUPER-CHARGER AIR WAS FED THROUGH THE CARBURETOR TO THE SECOND SUPER-CHARGER AT A PRESSURE WHICH ENABLED THE ENGINE TO DEVELOP FULL POWER AT GREAT HEIGHTS.

AIRPLANE engines, designed for high-altitude flying, have built-in superchargers which supply air in sufficient quantities to enable the engine to give full power at high altitudes. However, additional supercharging is required to raise the air pressure at 60,000 feet, which is about one and one-half pounds per square inch, to a pressure which will sustain human life and permit the engine to function.

The double supercharger is the answer to the problem and was used by Wiley Post in his stratosphere flights. One form of auxiliary supercharger is the turbo-compressor, which is driven by the

TO SPEAK THE WORD

"Judging from their recent actions, Congress can no longer be said to be waiting for the President to speak the word."

This excerpt from a recent newspaper editorial is a typical illustration of the use of this curious expression under consideration, which has acquired the meaning of to give a command.

Its unique application is rooted in the Scripture, where the usage of speak and word is frequently used in connection with the Lord, and therefore in the sense of a mandate.

A comparatively modern appearance is in "The Collier of Crocydon," by J. T. Grim, published in 1862.

A society woman on a transcontinental train was approached by another who, all smiles, exclaimed, "Why, my dear, how wonderful to find you here!" and then proceeded to indulge in intimate reminiscences, concluding, "...and my brother was mentioning you just the other day!"

The first, who could not remember where she had met the second, said in a panic: "Yes—yes—your brother! What—what is he doing now?"

The second looked puzzled, then she stuttered. "He is still," she said, telly. "President of the United States!"

And when the nations disarm some statesmen will slip in a joker permitting the building of battleships for medicinal purposes.
